Félix Nagy

Félix is a freelance translator, interpreter, and language teacher based in Budapest. He works with English and German, interpreting at company registrations, ceremonies and sports events, and translating everything from websites to legal and technical documents. He also teaches English from beginner to advanced level and German up to intermediate, helping students prepare for exams or just feel more confident using the language. He holds degrees in Translation and Interpreting and English Studies with German specialization from Eötvös Loránd University. Friendly, precise, and flexible, he loves bridging cultures and making language learning enjoyable and practical.
